

INTIMALENTE – 10th Edition, 2020
Ethnographic Film Festival

PRESS RELEASE

IntimaLente - Ethnographic Film Festival is now in its tenth edition. The call for participation for the 2020 edition has already been launched, and the festival will take place as usual in Caserta (Italy) in December.

IntimaLente Festival is intended to promote documentary cinema with particular attention to anthropological topics and methodologies. The international character of the festival is both desirable and unavoidable because of the specific character of the discipline and of the medium of film itself. Past editions have seen a strong participation, with films from all over the world.

We have chosen not to focus on specialist themes but instead to offer an array of work representing different filmic idioms and geographical areas of interest. We believe that this choice not only will trigger a wide exchange of ideas and themes but will also generate an extensive collaborative perspective. We do prefer to select topics of general interest exhibiting both thematic diversity and relevance to the interests of non-specialist viewers. We have rejected mere exoticism as outdated and unnecessary and have aimed at a selection that, via the intimacy of the camera's lens, extends the local and the particular to a perspective that is truly contemporary and global.

Those interested can find all the necessary information for submission by consulting the websites www.ilfestival.org , <https://filmfreeway.com/intimalente> or contacting the organization at intimalente@gmail.com
